

Through the Yellowstone Park

An Enjoyable Camping Trip.

The welcome news was spread abroad the previous night that breakfast would not be served until 8 o'clock to the "dudes," and even the "wranglers" were allowed an extra hour or so of sleep. The two ambitious photographers were up and off shortly after five, in order to get the early morning lights and shadows in the canyon, not returning until breakfast was almost over. And to have missed that breakfast entirely would have been nothing short of a tragedy. Cook had ample time in which to prepare it, and such a breakfast as it was—trout and deliciously browned potatoes, fried eggs, crisp toast and fragrant coffee, and towers of the most delicious "hot cakes"—griddle cakes, we would call them, "back east"—and syrup. At 10 o'clock the rig was waiting for us, and we enjoyed the drive down by the side of the now rapidly moving Yellowstone to the Canyon, passing the magnificent Grand Canyon bridge but a few rods below the camp. At the Upper Falls we made the first stop and went down the stairs to a jutting point of rock from which we had an excellent view of the 112-foot drop, and the rapids above and below. Wonderfully beautiful it was, with the morning sun making rainbows in the spray. A quarter mile below are the Great Falls, 360 feet in height, whose majestic beauty in the wonderful setting of the canyon awes one to silence. To Point Lookout, Grand View and Inspiration Point we drove. At each place we had ample time to make the descent to the platforms, and from each a different view, each exciting in some particular, was obtained. The pen fails when it comes to describing the scenes—but Rev. Dr. Wayland Hoyt gives some graphic impressions worth quoting:

"These are the Lower Falls of the Yellowstone. They are not the grandest in the world, but there are none more beautiful. There is not the breadth and dash of Niagara, nor is there the enormous leap of some of the waterfalls of the Yosemite. But here is majesty of its own kind, and beauty, too. On either side are vast, pinnacles of sculptured rock. There, where the rock opens to the river, its waters are compressed from a width of 200 feet between the Upper and Lower Falls, to less than 100 feet when it takes the plunge. The shelf of rock over which it leaps is absolutely level. The water seems to wait a moment on its verge; then it passes, with a single bound, 360 feet to the gorge below. It is a sheer, unbroken compact, shining mass of silver foam. But your eyes are all the while distracted from the fall itself, great and beautiful as it is, to its marvelous setting; to the surprising overmastering canyon into which the river leaps, and through which it flows, dwindling to but a foamy ribbon there in its appalling depths. These rocky sides are almost perpendicular; indeed, in many places the boiling springs have gouged them out so as to leave overhanging cliffs and tables at the top. Take a stone and throw it over, you have to wait long before you hear it strike. . . . But this is not all, nor is the half yet told. Go out on that jutting rock again and mark the sculpturing of God upon those vast and solemn walls. By dash of wind and wave, by force of frost, by file of snowplunge and glacier and mountain torrents, by the hot breath of boiling springs, those walls have been cut into the most various and surprising shapes. I have seen the 'middle age' castles along the Rhine; there those castles are reproduced exactly. I have seen the soaring summit of the great cathedral spires in the country beyond the sea; there they stand in prototype, only loftier and more sublime. Then, of course, and almost beyond all else, you are infatuated by the magnificence and utter splendor of color. Those are not simple gray and hoary depths, and reaches and domes and pinnacles of sullen rock. The whole gorge flames. It is as though rainbows had fallen out of the sky and hung themselves there like glorious banners. The underlying color is the clearest yellow, this flushes outward into orange. Down at the base the deepest mosses uproll their draperies of the most vivid green; browns, sweet and soft, do their blending; white rocks stand spectral; turrets of rock shoot up as crimson as though they were drenched with blood. It is a wilderness of color. It is impossible that even the pencil of an artist can tell it. What you would call, a great exaggeration, would be the utmost measure compared with the reality. It is as if the most glorious sunset you ever saw had been caught and held upon that resplendent, awful gorge."

One feature of the morning drive was its popularity. At no other time did we see so many tourists as we happened along some where near the schedule time for Canyon side-trips from the various camps. There were 500 Shriners, including the Shriner's band, in gorgeous uniforms with "Lu Lu Band" on their caps, at Canyon when we were, distributed between the Wylie, Shaw and Powell and Transportation companies. Billie was quite excited over the band, and did not understand why we didn't have one, too! A pleasant salute from each rig and a smiling greeting was, and is, the rule of the road in the park. Most of our party visited the wonderful Grand Canyon hotel that morning before the return to camp, but we tarried so long at Inspiration Point and along the way, that we did not make the visit there. About two o'clock Mr. Grant gathered his forces for an afternoon's tramp to Artists Point and down Uncle Tom's Trail on the opposite side of the Canyon from that visited in the morning. The family separated for the afternoon, "Daddy" staying near camp with Billie and Theodora in charge, with fishing as an amusement, and the writer joining Dr. and Mrs. Pleadwell for the walk. Crossing the canyon bridge and passing the Shaw & Powell camp, high on the canyon side, we followed the path through the woods until the place where the descent to the foot of the Great Falls, over Uncle Tom's trail, was made. "Uncle Tom," an old-time park character, built a set of steps to the foot of the falls, but they were unfortunately allowed to go to pieces, and the descent is now made over a steep trail, with a rope as a guide and friend in the worst spots. We watched a number of the party start out on their way down, but we three decided to save our time and strength for other things. The trail along the canyon edge was

Stomach Catarrh Is Very Prevalent

In this climate catarrh is a prevalent disease. Catarrh affects the stomach as often as any other organ. Perhaps every third person is more or less troubled with stomach catarrh. Peruna is extensively used in these cases.

PERUNA THE RELIABLE FAMILY REMEDY

quite climb enough for those of us who were "out of training," as the very much runover heels of my walking boots bore silent testimony on my return. It was well worth the effort, however, and the varying glimpses we got of the canyon from different vantage points were wonderful. The rainbow in the spray from the Great Falls, and the gorgeous canyon walls, crossed and recrossed in seemingly impossible places by plainly defined game trails—the silver river hurrying along at the bottom—all form a series of never-to-be-forgotten pictures. Artist Point gained we well understood why Thomas Moran chose that spot from which to make the sketches for his famous painting now hanging in the National Capitol.

Conversation had been an impossibility on the way over, but on our return by the excellent carriage road I was interested in learning that the Pleadwells had spent the previous summer at Mooselookmuguntic in Maine, and that the doctor had been stationed on the Kearsage for several years with Commander W. V. Pratt, of whom he spoke most highly.

When we again reached the bridge the doctor went back to camp, as per previous agreement, to join the young fishermen, while their custodian "caught up" with us, continuing on our way for a visit to the Grand Canyon hotel. Our plans worked out very nicely and we thoroughly enjoyed our brief tour of inspection of that wonderful hostelry. When one considers that all the materials had to be transported on horse-drawn stages about 50 miles it seems a modern miracle. It was opened June 15, 1911, cost over three quarters of a million and has accommodation for over four hundred guests. The cozy foyer, and huge lounge are finished in birdseye maple, and the lights are concealed in hanging lanterns that are a unique part of the decorative scheme. The hotel has its own power and heating plant, of course, and its ice plant was the first on the reserve. Telephones connect the various rooms and floors, and except for the fact that the papers on the newstand were nearly a week old one could imagine himself almost anywhere except far from "civilization." The Art Shop was a wonderful room, crowded with treasures of all kinds. Carvings, jewelry, lacés, Indian curios, rugs, bears in all sizes and of all materials from ivory to fur, crowded the show cases and were ranged on the floor and walls until it gave one the impression of a miniature Vaseline and Tiffany's rolled into one. While making some modest purchases of post cards in the office we caught sight of a few of our party, arrayed in real "glad rags," conjured up from somewhere in the 25 pounds of luggage allowed each of us, and waiting for the dining room to open. They had arranged for a dinner there for the sake of the change and experience and came back to join the campfire circle late in the evening with a remarkable serial story of their adventures that was amusing, if not strictly truthful.

The youngsters had a highly successful afternoon—Billie having several fish to his credit, while the doctor reported having rescued him from a rather perilous position, flat on his stomach on the river bank blowing "soap bubbles" in the Yellowstone with a dandelion stem!

TEN SUBMARINES

Built for the Allies by the Bethlehem Steel Co., Cross the Ocean Under their Own Steam.

Operating under their own power, without refueling or revictualing and without the slightest mishap, ten submarines, designed by American naval architects and built by American artisans have within the last few months crossed the Atlantic Ocean and are now doing yeoman service for the allied cause in German and Turkish waters.

While the rest of the world has been dreaming of the day when the trans-Atlantic submersible would be an accomplished fact, the thing has been done by American genius and American craftsmanship.

In just five months from the time that Charles M. Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel Company signed a contract for the submarine with the British Government, the "little vipers," as they have come to be known, were turned over to British crews at the Vicker-Maxim yards, in Montreal, where they were built jointly by the Bethlehem Steel Company and the Electric Boat Company and started for the war zone.

Five are now operating near Heligoland, behind which island the main German fleet has been hiding since the outbreak of the war. The other five are with the allied fleets in the Dardanelles. All records in submarine construction have been surpassed by this feat, and all records for speed and sustained effort have been exceeded. Within two weeks after leaving Montreal five of the submarines were safe in the English Channel. Inside of twenty days the other five were in Turkish waters, and their commanders had reported for instant active service to the British commander of the allied fleets, Vice Admiral Dorebeck. The construction of these craft and their dispatch to the European war zones were attended with the greatest secrecy. In the face of the wonderful German system of espionage the American workmen did their tasks unsuspected. So thorough were the precautions taken that until now not a person outside of those intended to know had an inkling of what had been done.

Our Letter from Crawford's.

MY DEAR JOURNAL. Telemachus in some of his philosophic philosophizing has propounded the theory that there is nobody in this world so insignificant that he does not derive some happiness from feeling himself a little superior to somebody else. No person so lowly that he does not feel a little complacency in drawing his garments away from contact with some other garments belonging to somebody whom he considers a little more lowly than himself. This, in whatever degree it may be true, is no doubt the result of a natural effort of the eternal Ego to maintain its own little place upon its own little island in the great sea of space. I do not claim this stupendous idea as an original one. After reading one of Robert Browning's exquisite poems, I have a vague notion that he was trying to reason out something like this, but got bewildered and lost the thread of his argument. Another poet, whose poems are not quite so exquisite or quite so abstruse, began at the other end of the scale and evened things up:

"Every dog has fleas
And these have fleas to bite 'em
And these in turn have other fleas—
And so—ad infinitum."

Thus extremes meet, and from the reasoning of my philosopher and the poets, I deduce the following: Life, for each of us, comes pretty near being one thing after another anyhow, whether we play the part of a king on a throne or a flea on a dog; and if we cannot be as humble as we ought to be, we ought to be as humble as we can be, for the next thing is liable to be something else. There was once a man, a carpenter, but you probably know more about that, dear Journal, than I do. I am not setting myself up to preach. I was just thinking that a day must come to each ego, clinging desperately to its own little island in the great sea of space, when it must be swept away into the greater, vaster sea of eternity—and I was wondering—just wondering—

This serious train of thought started yesterday, Sunday, when in search of solitude I climbed the stone steps leading up the cliff from the shore of Saco Lake, and then climbed higher and higher up the steep side of the mountain. When I finally sat down to rest the world was at my feet, the blue sky and the immensity of space was above my head, and behind me the stillness of a vast forest. A forest from which the eyes of the big bear that has lately been seen by several people, were probably watching me critically and curiously, while his bearship was making up his mind whether he would, or would not, like to have me for supper. Almost straight down, was the Crawford house, and the railroad station, and the road with its constant procession of automobiles, coming and going through the Notch. Voices and laughter from groups on the verandas, the station platform, scattered about the grounds and strolling around the lake, floated up to me, softened by the distance into something akin to music. And so from my lofty perch I looked down upon my kind with meditations that were sometimes whimsical and sometimes serious, until the scene wearied me and I started to climb down, dreading the descent as everybody does who has to climb down from a lofty perch. "Be careful dear; don't 'oo slip, 'oo sweet 'little thing; be careful 'oo 'little dear; don't 'oo slip." It was a woman toiling around a curve and up the almost perpendicular path, and what do you think? The thing she was talking to was only a little brown dog on the end of a string. I grinned, I couldn't help it, and the woman panted, "Oh! I was so afraid he might slip, the path is so steep and so slippery you know." "Yes," I said, "and it is steeper farther up, but the view is great, be careful you don't slip, yourself." She evidently had never thought of that possibility, for she thanked me very heartily as the dog pulled her along. Never having seen them since, I cannot say whether one or both of them slipped, or whether they got up the mountain and down again in safety.

"Every dog has his day" is well represented at Crawford's this season. As near as I can reckon there are ten big dogs, aristocratic little dogs stopping in the house and three little dogs of lesser pretensions stopping outside. One lady told us the other day, speaking of her King Charles Spaniel. "He is really very delicate. He used often to throw up his head and become unconscious simply from indigestion. I tried a great many vets without success, but at last in Paris, I found a man who understood his case, and now he is on a strict diet," and she went on with a most appetizing list of delicacies that he could eat. In the meantime the dear little dog as he sat on our office window ledge, kept his eyes upon me, and watched every motion of my hand. "Don't touch him!" said the lady. "He doesn't like strangers to touch him." How I ever resisted the desire to pull that little dog's tail, I shall never know, but I hope that somewhere my selfdenial has been written down to my credit. Marie Sinclair, grand daughter of Frank Jones the brewer, is staying here, and some of the dogs are hers. Miss Sinclair affects the extreme of mannish style in manners and costume, especially in her riding costume. Mrs. John Campbell, who has been staying here has been a reminder of former days in Belfast, when "John" was a familiar figure about the streets. Mrs. George Bray is here; and there are others whose names, at least, are familiar. The Bishop of Florida is one of our notables; and Mrs. Manning, widow of the late Secretary Manning, is another. Two weeks before his death John D. Long of Massachusetts was with us, and we have a pleasant memory of his strong, kindly face. Our funny man—there is always a funny man in these big hotels—is certainly the funniest man of them all.

"My Lord," he said to his wife in the dining room one day, "Did I pay a thousand dollars for your diamonds, and bring you up here to see you eat pigs feet." And so he keeps the good lady in hot water because she never knows what is coming to her next; and his perfectly immovable face deceives anyone who does not know him to be, as somebody expressed it, "Just a scream." Today a sweet faced young girl presented herself at the window and introduced herself as Chas. Harriman's daughter. She was touring the mountains with an automobile party and her call was a brief but very pleasant one to me, and it reminded me that just a year ago Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Horton were here, and that I enjoyed a delightful automobile ride with them to the Profile, and a walk up the wonderful Flume, a place which it is quite beyond me to describe. I remember that coming down, we reached a point where half an acre or more of smooth level ledge spread out before us. One of the party suggested that this would be an ideal building spot because the lawn would never need mowing. "Tempus fugit" as the old lady said, and it hardly seems possible that a year has passed since then. The mention of the Profile reminds me of a young lady's remark the other day upon hearing somebody call it "Profeel." "Oh do say Profile" she said, "you never heard people talking about a woodpeck, why should they talk about a Profeel?" My clock still amuses the children. Just now, returning from lunch, I found it in a conspicuous place on the window ledge, wearing around its neck a tag, "75 cts; Proceeds to go to the Belgian fund." "Why it cost me a dollar," I cried as I rescued it from its precarious position. "What if you did?" said Mrs. Wright. "It was an alarm clock when you bought it, now it's just an ordinary plain clock." She tells me that a guest asked her what "that woman" (meaning myself) carried that clock around for, and she says she replied, "Oh she's a little 'out' you know, and she runs to clocks. She seems all right every other way so we humor her. But we expect that by next year she will be trying to carry a big grandfather clock around in her arms." Whether this conversation did or did not take place it is beyond me to know, but the recital of it in Mrs. Wright's happy manner reduced the rest of us to a state of utter helplessness, and I think if the clock had not been deprived of its bell it would have laughed, too.

On the night of August 28th the old Tip Top House on Mt. Washington burned, and some among our guests who were staying at the new house for a few days, describe the fire as a most exciting and thrilling experience. As the old house contained sleeping accommodations and was depended upon to take care of many of the tourists, its loss is greatly regretted, and the season is a trying one to those whose duty it is to make the new house shelter a number of guests far beyond its rooming capacity.

Here at Crawford's the rush continues and will continue through the "follage season." Already the sides of the mountains are thickly sprinkled with autumn colors and each day they will increase and the scenery will grow more beautiful, until "Jack Frost" shall have exhausted all the colors in his paint box, and then the snow king will come stalking through and with one sweep of his brush will obliterate it all and change the face of nature to a dazzling whiteness. Then the last guest will go hurrying down to warmer localities—and I—to my home and the Passagassa-waukeag River.

THE BLUE CROSS.

As recently stated in The Journal, Mrs. Grace C. D. Favre now in Lausanne, Switzerland, is engaged in the work of this organization, and the following account of its operations will be read with interest:

The Blue Cross has six hospitals in France and others in Italy. At its head as president is the Earl of Lonsdale associated with Lady Smith-Dorrien. The chairman is Sir Ernest Flower, the honorable treasurer is Sir Claude MacDonald, and the supply department is in charge of Arthur J. Coke. The expenditure of funds is under charge of the war office, but the erection and maintenance of the hospitals is without government aid. The hospitals are under the conduct of experienced veterinarians, with corps of "Blue Cross" (male) nurses. A hospital will care for about 1,250 horses, and these patients have both surgical and medical attention. Those that are wounded and can be saved for service upon regaining strength are returned to the army. The patients include both cavalry and work horses, and they come to hospitals both from the battlefield and the expeditionary service.

A postcard which is in general and wide circulation is as follows:

I'm only a cavalry charger,
And I'm dying as fast as I can (For my body is riddled with bullets—
They've potted both me and my man;
And though I've no words to express it,
I'm trying this message to tell
To kind folks who work for the Red Cross—
Oh, please help the Blue one as well!

My master was one in a thousand
And I loved him with all this poor heart (For horses are built just like humans, Be kind to them—they'll do their part);
So please send out help for our wounded,
And give us a word in your prayers;
This isn't so strange as you'd fancy—
The Russians do it in theirs.

IF WORRIED ABOUT YOUR CHILD

Do as this Mother did Frail, weak children need watchful care. If your child is sickly, it needs good care more than coddling. Give lots of nourishing food, keep the child outdoors as much as possible, and see that all the habits are regular. "L. F." Atwood's Medicine does frail children a world of good. It is good for constipated bowels, helps along the appetite, acts as a tonic and improves the general health. This mother says so:

Spruce Head, Maine.
I have used "L. F." Atwood's Medicine ever since I was a little girl. I have a family of small children now and keep it in the house all the time. I think it a very good medicine for children or older people.

[Correspondence of The Journal.]

New York, Sept. 13, 1915. Familiar are seen everywhere at hotel and tea rooms, and orders for outfits are considerably in advance of former seasons. No doubt interest in fashion has been whetted by the many fetes that have been a notable feature of summer doings. Beginning with the artistic function at Mrs. Herman Butler's beautiful place at Newport, they have followed at the various receptions, and everywhere with the same result of ample receipts and great interest.

Fashionable Materials.
There is nothing to hint at economy in the wonderful display of the season's fabrics, whether in model garments or shown at the counters of the Fifth avenue shops. Soft velours in various shades from "Kitten's ear" to the various gloveskin cloths that resemble suede, to rival cotton velvets for the more modest suits and coats, while for the more elaborate wear the whipcords and a new combination of whipcord and gabardine having called "Gabacord" are endorsed as the best tailors. Vicuna cloth in new shades of checks and plaids, as well as in solid cross bars that are increasingly favored, make motor coats and cross country suits. Tipperary suits are other materials especially looking for smart rough wear.

Dull Rich Colors.
Dull rich colors are the rule, with dark Garibaldi and Bordeaux as the novelty note, while for contrast a dash of the brilliant pea-green in the Italian flag, brightens many otherwise sombre frock. Fancy taffetas in stripes and plaids, many of them

McCall Designs

trimmed with velvet in the stripes or dots, are discreetly used for trimmings in combinations with plain woolen cloths. Such materials are especially successful in bringing a gown up-to-date, and a little of the costly stuff goes a long way in effectiveness.

Blouses.
Tailored blouses of silk crepes and soft sues with combinations of chiffon and fancy silks, or plain ones, for afternoon wear. Some women select the blouse that first and have the suit built to respond, though this seems like putting the cart before the horse to most people. One thing no one can neglect to turn out correctly, and that is the general outline or silhouette which rules from season to season.

Foundations.
Not every woman realizes that after she has found her type of corset, she should be careful to secure the latest, up-to-date variation of this type if she wishes to have her fall raiment assume unfailing lines.

Last season's corset has been given a curve at the sides, additional height at the waist line and a slightly shorter skirt. In the authoritative autumn

Embroideries.
Wool embroideries, done with rather dark colorings, are among the smartest embroideries of the new clothes outfit, and the embroideries and ornaments are seen on every side, not only for elaborate frock, but for the chic ornament that sets off a plain velvet hat, or a different air to the dress or suit.

a good choice. Coque feathers are first favorites and expensive. Hackle is almost as good style and not near so depleting to one's allowance, and comes in a number of smart bands and fancy pieces.

States to Share $850,000 From National Forests.

Secretary of Treasury Approves Annual Division of Receipts for School and Road Purposes.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13, 1915. The portion of the National Forest receipts for the fiscal year 1915 to go to the benefit of the various States in which the forests lie, according to the computation of the Forest Service just approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, amounts all told to more than $850,000.
The gross receipts for the year ending June 30 were $2,481,469.35, of which under the law 25 per cent is paid over to the States for county school and road purposes and an additional 10 per cent is made available for expenditure by the Secretary of Agriculture in building roads and trails for the benefit of local communities.

Montana gets the largest share, having contributed the largest amount of receipts from the sale of timber, grazing, and other uses of the Forests, or more than $518,000. Of this amount, Montana is to receive $79,589.78 for county school and road purposes, while the Forest Service will expend $31,835.91 for improvements of special benefit to local communities and not included in the regular administrative and protective improvements. Idaho comes second with a 25 per cent allowance of $76,651.15 and a 10 per cent fund of $30,260.46. California is third, receiving a 25 per cent allowance of $67,611.37 and a 10 per cent fund of $27,044.74. The other National Forests States follow in the order of the size of their respective shares:

Arizona, $59,807.89 under the 25 per cent provision and $23,923.16 under the 10 per cent; Colorado, $59,218.60 and $23,687.44; Oregon, $49,675.83 and $19,
870.33; Utah, $48,875.96 and $19,470.38
Wyoming, $43,086.86 and $17,234.75;
Washington, $37,445.56 and $14,978.23;
New Mexico, $31,786.46 and $12,714.58;
Nevada, $16,244.53 and $6,497.81; South Dakota, $12,988.11 and $5,195.25; Alaska, $11,165.75 and $4,466.30; Arkansas, $8,738.93 and $3,495.57; Florida, $2, 336.77 and $934.71; Minnesota, $9,710.60 and $3,884.64; Nebraska, $1,401.15 and $560.46; Kansas, $1,357.33 and $542.93;
Oklahoma, $759.77 and $303.91; Michigan, $198.37 and $79.35; North Dakota, $81.83 and $32.73; Porto Rico, $9.25 and $3.70.

The States of Arizona and New Mexico receive additional shares for their school funds on account of school lands included within the National Forests, yielding them $28,966.46 and $9,311.87, respectively.

On the National Forest Purchase Areas in the East, a total of $3,977.60 was collected in Georgia, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia, these States thereby sharing $994.40 under the 25 per cent provision and $397.76 under the 10 per cent.

The total amount to be expended under this system of sharing the Forest receipts with the States to make up for the loss of local taxes due to public ownership of the land is about $16,000 greater than for the previous fiscal year, as the receipts for the fiscal year 1915 exceeded those of the previous fiscal year by about $44,000. The provision of law under which a portion of the receipts is turned over to the States dates from 1906, and the total payments reach, with this year's allotment, nearly $4,500,- 000. The ten per cent provision for government-built public roads has been in force only since 1912, and has now made available for this purpose an aggregate of $926,000.

GET RID OF THOSE POISONS IN YOUR SYSTEM!

You will find Dr. King's New Life Pills a most satisfactory laxative in releasing the poisons from your system. Accumulated waste and poisons cause manifold ailments unless released. Dizziness, spots before the eyes, blackness and a miserable feeling generally are indications that you need Dr. King's New Life Pills. Take a dose tonight and you will experience grateful relief by morning. 25c.

LASSELL AND SWEETLAND REUNION.

The 15th annual reunion of the Lassell and Sweetland families was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Luce, Searsmont, Aug. 19th. The day was pleasant and by noon about 60 members of the families had met and exchanged greetings. Much regret was expressed by all as in the past year one of the beloved members, Daniel Sweetland, had been called to meet with a higher reunion. He was always ready to make the day pass most pleasantly for the old and young.

As the noon hour approached the tables were set, and all did justice to the well laden baskets, and also the baked beans furnished by Mrs. Charles Luce.
At 2 o'clock the business meeting was called to order by the secretary in the absence of the president, and the following program was listened to: Address of welcome, Mrs. Charles Luce; response, Mrs. Callie Fuller; song, Miss Maud Bryant; reading, Mrs. Howland Lassell; story, Mrs. Ed Lassell; remarks, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley; remarks, Mrs. Abbie Ordway; music, phonograph.
As the hour was getting late, all parted bidding each other a fond farewell and wishing that all would meet with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lassell of South Hope, next year.

on route to Millbrook, N. Y., where she is employed as a trained nurse at the Bennett school.

There was no meeting at the church Sept.
5th, the pastor being absent. The Sunday evening sings at the church are largely attended and much enjoyed.

Mrs. A. S. Tyler, who for some years has been confined at home by a serious accident, gave her neighbors a delightful surprise when with her daughter, Mrs. Georgia Woods, she made several dooryard calls last week.

Mrs. E. E. Bagley, who spent the summer with her sister, Mrs. T. W. Hawes, has returned to her winter home in Boston. Her cheery presence will be greatly missed in the Sunshine Society and by all with whom she associated.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Hawes of Bridgeport, Conn., are receiving congratulations from a host of Troy friends on the safe arrival of a little daughter at their home, Sept. 1st. Just imagine, friends, that big Fred holding in his strong arms that tiny bit of humanity!

Mrs. J. L. Sanderson has gone to Pittsfield, where her son and daughter will attend school.
Her husband will go later, and they intend to make their home there for the present. Mrs.
Sanderson's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs.
Irving Sawyer, will move from Troy Center to the Sanderson place at North Troy.

The Troy students who will attend school at M. C. Institute, Pittsfield, the coming term, are as follows: Benson Gowen, Miss Christina Gowen, Robert Gowen, Ray Wright, Miss

were week-end guests of his sister, Mrs. Hutchins of Brooks, and of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Thompson of this town.

The many friends of Levi Seekins will be sorry to learn he had a stroke of paralysis Sept. 4th. His right side was paralyzed, and he also has another cancer coming on his lip in nearly the same place as one he had removed.

Cards were received in town last week by the writer and others announcing the marriage of Edith Marguerite Macomber to Paul Sumner Nickerson, Aug. 31st, at Bennington, Vermont and that they will be at home after Oct.
1st in Wellestree, Mass. Mr. Nickerson is the September 10th was a good day - 82 in the shade and wind northwest.

"The dogfish must go" says the Portland Argus. Sure! But how, when and where?

There is always some one fishing for suckers, but fortunately for the intended victims, the bait is sometimes stale and the hook glaringly evident.

Bangor has turned down the proposed commission form of government - yes 1599; no 2178; and South Carolina has voted 3 to 1 for prohibition as a substitute for the present local option law.

The claim of the commander of the German submarine that sank the White Star liner Arabic that he did it in self-defense recalls the case of the man arrested for killing a neighbor's sheep, and who declared he wouldn't allow any man's sheep to bit him.

John Kendrick Bangs, whose A Houseboat on the Styx, Coffee and Repartee, and other books, have added to the joy of life, is spending the summer at his camp in Maine.

We should hardly call his cottage home at Ogunquit a camp. Mr. Bangs, be it known, is a citizen of Maine, a duly qualified voter, and was on the stump for the Republican candidates in a recent campaign.

A recent automobile tourist in Washington county speaks of finding an excellent road between Machias and Lubec. A considerable section of this road this side of Lubec used to be called a "natural road" and is recalled by the writer after a lapse of sixty-odd years as hard and smooth as if made of cement. In contrast was a bit of road near Jonesport, also a "natural road," as it was simply an embankment of round, loose stones thrown up by the sea.

The seaman's law passed by the Democratic Congress, which has already driven American steamships from the trans-Pacific trade, which now becomes a monopoly of the Chinese and Japanese lines, has been found destructive in another direction. A recent opinion of the U. S. Attorney General on section 14 leaves the seaman's law to operate only against American ships which it was intended to protect, and so few foreign vessels as to make it almost completely discriminatory against the United States.

The recall by his government of Dr. Constantin Theodor Dumba the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador to the United States has been requested by the American government, and relations with Germany are again at a critical stage because of the torpedoing of the Arabic. The German drive towards Dvinsk continues; but in Galicia the Russians are still on the offensive. The artillery duel in the west continues. The allies have been reinforced at the Dardanelles and are said to be making gains there. That is the gist of the war news for the past week.

Word comes from Washington that a critical stage has been reached in the correspondence with Germany, and outside of diplomatic and official circles it is felt that this country has been played with by Germany long enough. The Boston Globe thus summarizes the last German note: "If, unfortunately, the submarine commander does feel himself justified in sinking a liner and drowning Americans, the Berlin Government will be only sorry; it will refuse any reparation. And if the matter should be referred to The Hague the question of the justifiability of such submarine warfare must not be submitted to arbitration." And it concludes, as follows: "It is not likely that Germany desires another antagonist. But this exhibition of a arrogant, tortuous diplomacy which has separated Germany from the world does not make it difficult to understand what has helped to earn her those enemies which she has."

THE ROADS.

For years past the roads leading into the city have been in a bad condition and loud complaints have come from all who had to use them. "Fairly good roads everywhere until we struck Belfast" has been the common remark of tourists. This year, we are told by those who drive and auto that a great deal has been done to remedy this condition. The ditches have been cleared, drainage looked after, the road beds rounded and given a coat of gravel. There is a growing sentiment here and elsewhere that a road thus constructed is practically as good, and less expensive to maintain, than the so-called State roads that cost from $3,000 to $4,000 per mile, and it is realized that if this policy is continued it must result in the bankruptcy of the State and the communities. Belfast has 150 miles of road and at the maximum cost of $4,000 per mile we have an aggregate of $600,000. The idea that a section of State road when built is a permanent improvement is proved to be erroneous. Sections built only a few years ago are already going to pieces under the heavy wear and tear of the now universal automobile, and this has called for a patrol for inspection corresponding to the sectionmen on the railroads. Unfortunately the men entrusted with this duty are not always selected because of their experience or knowledge of road building but as a reward for political or personal service. The Journal is heartily in favor of good roads and the files will testify to that fact, but it believes in the greatest good to the greatest number and it does not believe that spending $4,000 on a few rods of road and neglecting the roads in general is good policy or just to those who use the roads and pay the taxes.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT.

Missouri recently had a Fried Chicken Day and the St. Louis Globe Democrat says: "Springfield, metropolis of the Ozarks, poured but en masse to a fried chicken picnic." Fried chicken may be classed as a southern dish, but for the real thing you must go to Virginia. No one who has traveled that way will forget a certain railway station in Virginia where the trains were met by the colored "mammies" with their gay-colored turbans bearing trays heaped with the golden brown delectable morsels of infantile poultry, accompanied, of course, by corn "pones." We recall a Virginian—his name by the way was Washington—who when questioned on his return from a trip abroad as to his experiences forcibly expressed his disgust at the food he had had set before him. "Why," said he, "I couldn't get fried chicken and corn bread anywhere."

The colored "Mammy" who prepared this and many other appetizing dishes must have long since gone to her reward, and those who enjoyed the hospitality of Southern homes in ante bellum days must wonder if the art died with them. A certain colored cook, "Zeny," was often asked to tell how she prepared her culinary triumphs, and her reply would be: "You take a little of dis and a little of dat," etc. She really could not tell. She did not cook by rule. It was instinct—or genius. The good cook, like the poet, is born, not made.

Maryland is noted for her terrapin, oysters and beaten biscuit; Louisiana for gumbo, and you will find receipts for these and many other southern dishes in the cook books; but when prepared by these rules they will too often prove a delusion and a snare. In some pretentious hostelry with an elaborate menu in French they may serve "Terrapin a la Maryland;" but it will be a conglomeration from a tin can in which it is safe to say the diamond back terrapin is not represented.

New England also has its distinctive dishes. Not by any concerted movement did baked bean day become universal in this section. It dates back many generations, and to those of far reaching memories it seems that the baked beans of today do not have the savor of those that came from the old brick ovens with the brown bread and Indian pudding. New England may also claim to be the home of the pie although pies are common elsewhere on this side the water and are turned out by thousands daily from the pie factories. These, of course, are not to be compared with the product of New England kitchens.

If New England, following the example of Missouri, should decide to have a Pie Day we are sure that a certain prominent Granger in North Searsport would hold up both hands for custard pie. But the custard pie, a composition of milk and eggs, can be produced anywhere, and because of its distinctive local flavor, and otherwise, our vote would be for the blueberry pie. Some object to it because the juice stains the teeth, and leaves indelible marks on the tablecloth, but these considerations are as nothing to the lovers of blueberry pie. Then for an all-around pie—good any time and anywhere—give us the apple pie. Even the dried apple pie of olden days—the apples home dried—was by no means to be despised. But dried apples seem to be a thing of the past and we have instead the canned and evaporated apples, the latter dry and flavorless when compared with the old-time dried apples. And blueberries. Do you recollect when they used to be spread out on newspapers in the attic to dry for winter use? Now they come in cans. But the subject is inexhaustible and we cannot better conclude this article than with a verse long retained in memory concerning a shellfish that finds flavor wherever it is known:

Oysters! One needs the genius of a Shelley To fit hymn these treasures of the sea— Salacious dabs of appetizing jelly, Sauces of epigastric ecstasy.

Aroostook Potatoes.

Several farmers have begun to dig potatoes. The price opened at $1 per barrel, then dropped to 75 cents. Saturday dealers were paying 90 cents in some instances. The yield throughout the country will be considerably short of last year, and every one seems to think the price will be a good one this winter; and the Aroostook farmers need it to make up, in a measure, the loss on last year's crop, which closed at 20 cents per barrel. And with the short yield here, more than a dollar a barrel must be realized in order to get back the initial cost before any profit is made.—Aroostook Republican, Caribou.

Skowhegan Corn Shop Open.

The Portland Packing Co. has begun operations at its Skowhegan plant and has begun canning corn and it is said that unless an early frost should come in the history of the company, as the season's crop is unusually large and the weather conditions, though damp, have had a tendency to make the corn grow extensively, and the only thing that is feared is that there has not been sunshine enough to get the crop ripened before a frost may come that will affect it. The acreage is much larger this year, as profits in corn raising have increased in the last few years in that part of it used for ensilage.

Information Wanted of the Family of William Niles.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE JOURNAL: Having been officially informed of the death of one William Niles, a native of your State, at his death a driller in the oil fields near Fausto, State of Vera Cruz, Mexico, my purpose is to locate his family as I represent Mr. Niles' interests in Mexico. Your assistance in publishing this notice in your valuable paper will be gratefully appreciated by them and by me. Thanking you in advance for your kindness in assisting to locate this family,

THE NEWS OF BELFAST.

The ministers and their wives of the city will give a farewell luncheon to Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Sturtevant at the Woman's Club room next Friday at 1 p. m.

Miss Helen Ham, an operator in the Central Telephone office, is taking a three weeks vacation. Miss Martha Knowlton, who graduated last June from the High School, has entered the office for the coming winter.

The next regular meeting of the Hospital club will be held at the home of Mrs. Maine Hills, Church street, Tuesday night, Sept. 21st, when sheets and pillow slips will be made for the Waldo County hospital.

Miss Maude B. Steward entertained 12 members of the Hospital Club at the P. G. Hurd farm, Northport, Friday night. After supper, which included fish chowder, the evening was spent on the veranda. The trip out and back was made on the Maine Transportation Co's steamer, the party arriving in the city at 10 p. m.

The Social Aid of the Universalist church were guests Tuesday afternoon of Mrs. Benj. F. Tuttle at her cottage on the Allyn shore. Mrs. Tuttle provided cakes, coffee, crackers and pickles and the members brought picnic lunches. All enjoyed the beautiful afternoon at the cottage and on the shore. Plans for the Aid's work for the coming season were discussed.

The staging has been taken down from the new Peirce school building on Church street, the windows are in and the plastering finished. The exterior painting is yet to be done, but the building already presents a fine appearance. The desks and seats were received some time ago. There are, however, so many details to attend to that it will be well into October before the building is ready for occupancy.

EAST BELFAST.

Miss Fannie Mulholland of Lubec was a week-end guest of Miss Julia Leary.

Miss Geneva Coombs has returned home from a visit with friends in Stonington.

Mrs. Allie Howard and son Clyde returned last week from visits with relatives in Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Pendleton went to Bangor Sept. 8th to attend the reunion of Mr. Pendleton's regiment, after which they will visit their daughter, Mrs. S. P. Young, in Greenville.

Mrs. Hattie Reynolds and her mother, Mrs. Mary Stephenson of Camden, were guests last week of Mrs. F. B. Strout, and Mrs. Reynolds' little son Walter was christened last Sunday at Trinity church by Rev. Wm. Vaughan.

Miss Minnie Stephenson has gone to Camden to spend the month of September with her sister, Mrs. Hattie Reynolds.

PROSPECT.

Many from this town attended the Monroe fair on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hawes left for their home in Quincy, Mass., Friday.

Geo. Haley, who has employment in Derby, spent Labor Day with his family here.

Ernest Gilmore left Wednesday for Norridgewock, where he will have employment.

Mr. J. T. Lindsey, of Leominster, Mass., and Miss Helen left by boat Monday for their home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wood, and Miss Ella May were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Wood.

Arthur Dockham, of Barre, Vermont, and daughters Dorothy and Gladys of Winterport called on relatives here Saturday.

Oscar Hawes came by train last Saturday night from Seal Harbor, called home by the illness of his mother, Mrs. Leslie Hawes.

Miss Sadie Partridge underwent an operation for appendicitis at her home last Thursday and at this writing is reported as doing well.

Mrs. Geneva M. Shedd of East Corinth, arrived by train Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Shedd will teach the Clark school, which opens Monday.

Mrs. F. E. Harding and daughters returned to Brewer last Saturday, having spent the summer with Mrs. H's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Littlefield, and Master Glenn returned last Saturday night from Presque Isle, where they had been visiting and attending the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Marden and Miss Ruth of West Medford, Mass., returned to their home on Sunday, after having spent several weeks with relatives here.

The many friends of Mrs. Leslie Hawes regret to know that she sustained a paralytic shock on Monday. Dr. Nason of Winterport, and a trained nurse are in attendance. The sympathy of friends and neighbors is extended, with the sincere wish that there soon may be a marked improvement in her condition.

The News of Brooks.

Miss Florence Cain of Clinton is visiting Mabel Rose.

Maurice West is working on the new golf links at Dark Harbor.

Albert Warren and wife were recent guests at the home of Ezra A. Carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Lane, who are working at Dark Harbor, were in town a few days last week.

Mrs. Gwen Blake is at home for a few weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Boody.

Mrs. Leander Staples daughter, Miss Emma Titus of Boston, and Miss Edna Hathorn of Bangor, spent the week-end with her.

Mr. L. V. Boardman, who has been the guest of friends for a few days, left for his home in Cliftondale, Mass., by train Monday noon.

Our new principal, Mr. Shibles, and his young bride, have taken one of W. C. Austin's pretty bungalows and are very cozily situated for the school term.

Mrs. Ira Bowden returned this week from Abbott village, where she had spent some weeks among relatives. She was accompanied home by her cousin, Mrs. Eva Jones.

All roads led to Monroe during the days of the recent fair, and Brooks, we believe, turned out en masse, owing to the perfect weather, and the fair was a grand success all around.

Our milliner, Mrs. Francis Merritt, is spending the week in Boston getting the best in fall and winter fashion in millinery. While away she visited some days with Mrs. Gilbert Morrill in Waterville.

Mrs. Estelle Clement of Lowell called on friends here some days ago. She expects to return to Massachusetts this week, after enjoying a long vacation and rest with her daughter, Mrs. Bert Hogan.

Earl Roberts and Miss Arline Estes went by auto to Belfast last Saturday, where they were united in the bonds of matrimony by the Rev. David Brackett, later going to Northport to enjoy the honeymoon. Congratulations to their numerous friends.

Charles B. Roberts and wife, Stanley Roberts, wife and two sons, left Brooks Sept. 14th by motor for a visit with relatives in Massachusetts. They returned Sept. 13th, reporting good luck and a fine time. Mrs. Stanley Perkins and Mrs. Murch went to the farm to keep house during their absence.

No improvement is noted in the condition of Mrs. A. B. Payson up to date. Her seems most peculiar and baffling case indeed. A New York specialist called in consultation some weeks ago, gave as his opinion that it was an entirely nervous condition. Of later date a new physician pronounces it locomotor ataxia in its first stages. Much sympathy is expressed.

The fall term of the Brooks schools opened in the new building Monday, Sept. 13th, under the care of the new principal, Mr. Shibles of Rockport, and his assistant, Miss Butterfield of Springfield. A large number of pupils are in attendance. Some ten or a dozen from other towns have entered the High school department, and others are expected. A first class boarding house has been opened in close proximity to the school building by Mrs. Elmer Tripp, and as it is a well known fact that "Becky" is one of the very best cooks in the countryside, those are fortunate indeed who are able to be entered as regular boarders at her table. This is something that has been greatly needed in Brooks for several years and the Tripps boarding house will fill a long felt want.

The Waldo County Sunday School Association held their annual meeting at the Congregational church in this village on Friday, Sept. 10th, and it was a most enjoyable and interesting session. Many towns were represented. Dinner was served in the vestry, after which several eloquent speakers gave half-hour talks—among them "The Teen Age and its Needs," Rev. Arthur A. Blair, "Christian Thinking," Rev. W. F. Sturtevant, "Value of Decision in the Formation of Character," Rev. H. B. Sellers, all of Belfast. Interesting subjects were also discussed at the morning session by the president, Dr. T. N. Pearson, State secretary W. J. Weir, Rev. John Palmer, Miss Frances Walker, Rev. Nathan Hunt, and others. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Rev. T. S. Martin of Brooks; vice president, Dr. E. H. Boyington of Winterport; secretary, Mrs. Annie M. Frost of Belfast; treasurer, Gerald Howard of Belfast.

APPLETON.

Miss Grace Gushue is teaching the Head of the Lake school in Hope.

Fred Gushue is working for Mrs. Helen Gushue in her store and delivering goods.

Mrs. Harry Pierce, who has been at work at the Burton house, Union, is now at home.

Mrs. Winnie Talbot of Camden and two children are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ames.

Mrs. Albert Gushue has returned from Bar Harbor, where she visited her daughter, Mrs. James Emery.

Mrs. Rena Messer left Wednesday for Union, where she will visit friends, and later spend a few days at Cribhaven.

Lullie Ames and Ada Wadsworth are teaching in Ludlow, Mass., where Walter Gushue is superintendent of schools.

Miss Mildred Wentworth left Sunday for Morrill where she will visit friends before returning to Houlton to resume teaching.

Our village schools have begun with Mrs. Annie Williams teacher of the grammar and Miss Fannie Gushue in the primary department.

Mrs. Alvina Gushue is having a garage built. The building is 20x24 feet with Colonial style roof. William Wood of Searsport is doing the work.

G. H. Page and daughter, Mrs. Georgia Ripley of Bath, have returned from Blue Hill, where they were guests for one week of Mrs. L. J. Osgood and daughter Emma. While there they had the pleasure of attending the Blue Hill, Hancock county, fair.

The remains of the late Andrew H. Wentworth, who died in South Thomaston, were brought to Appleton and interred in the family lot in Pine Grove Cemetery. He was a former resident of North Appleton, where he traded for many years in the store now occupied by Fred Waterman.

CENTER MONTVILLE.

Miss Rilla Luce came home from Belfast Friday.

C. W. Talbot is visiting friends in Belfast this week.

Allen Goodwin went to Palermo Sunday to visit friends.

Ned Herriman is building an addition to the back side of his house.

Leonard Jackson spent last week at the State fair in Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wescott of Belfast were at E. P. Rowell's Sunday.

Mrs. Sarah Dinsmore of Belfast is the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. P. Rowell.

Mrs. F. A. Cushman and Miss Emma Blood of Belfast were in town Sunday.

Miss Greta Davis of Philadelphia was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ramsay.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Luce were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Luce in Belfast Saturday.

E. C. Bowler and family of Gardiner were at Chester B. and Mrs. Emma Cushman's Sunday.

Mrs. Luella Brown and Miss Dora Brown of Poor's Mills were Sunday guests of Mrs. Olive Stewart.

Mrs. O. L. Bartlett returned from Massachusetts this week and was accompanied by Bartlett Richards of Chevy Chase, Md.

Miss Mary Wentworth returned to Pittsfield Monday to resume her studies and Miss Clara Bean went with her to enter the same school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Whitcomb and son David of Syracuse, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Whitcomb of Waldo, visited Mr. and Mrs. Loring W. Howard Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Darpeaux of Marblehead, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fowler and Crosby Fowler of Unity, with Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Thompson of Belfast, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Howard.

A special town meeting September 7th it was voted to instruct the selectmen to comply with requirements of the State in order to obtain the $1000 appropriated at the last session of legislature to help in building a concrete bridge over the stream at the Center. It is estimated the town will have to raise about $1,600 to complete the structure.

South Montville is experiencing a religious revival under the leadership of E. N. Davis of Union. Sunday evening more than 300 people listened to the power of the holy spirit. Ninety-one in all have started to live the Christian life. Friday, Sept. 17th, the Baptist Quarterly Conference meets here and will hold over Sunday. Rev. Mr. Welch and other speakers will be present. In the afternoon a large baptism will be held, with Mr. Welch assisting.

SWANVILLE.

Mrs. Robert Seeley returned recently from a visit in Connecticut.

Mr. Fred Matthews of Searsport was in town Sunday calling on friends.

Miss Ethelinde Havenor of Searsport was a recent guest of Mrs. A. E. Nickerson.

Miss Doris Nickerson left Sept. 10th for North Haven, where she is engaged to teach.

The L. A. S. will meet with Mrs. A. T. Nickerson this Thursday, afternoon Sept. 16th.

Miss Carrie Keene of Massachusetts has been spending several days with Mrs. Charles Small.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Cilley and children of Waterville were recent guests of her brother, Mrs. Charles Small.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kane and son Arthur, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y., have been spending two weeks at the Kane farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy L. Nickerson and daughter Pauline of Bath spent several days in town last week and attended Monroe fair.

Messrs. Frank and Harold Harriman returned recently from Enfield, where they had enjoyed fishing on Cold Stream, making the trip in their Ford car.

Seventeen young men and women, including the chaperon, from Bangor, who were camping in Carter's Grove, attended services at Union church, Sept. 6th.

The Union church will be organized Sunday Sept. 19th, if pleasant, by Rev. A. A. Blair, the pastor. All wishing to join this church kindly be present on this day. Please come early.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Nickerson and two children returned home to Portland Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Matthews accompanied them as far as Burnham to attend the Pomona Grange.

Earle Curtis motored to Burnham Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Nickerson and son Kermit, who went to attend the Pomona Grange. In company with them were Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Nickerson and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dow of Monroe.

The following young men and women left the first of the week to attend school: Charles Damm, Hebron Academy; Emery Canningham, Bucksport Seminary; Miss Annie Nickerson, Kent's Hill; Misses Ruby Gray and Bernice Damm, the M. C. I., Pittsfield.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Strickland, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Hardison and baby Lowell returned home to Bangor Labor Day after spending the week-end in town, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Emory Cunningham, who will visit their son, E. L. Cunningham, and family.

Mrs. H. G. Applein and daughter Phyllis accompanied Mr. A. as far as Poland Springs Labor Day and returned Thursday, leaving Saturday for their home in Somerville, Mass., in company with Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Willson. Mrs. W. returned Wednesday by boat to be the guest of her parents while Mr. W. is in Cincinnati on a business trip. They recently bought a lot in Wollaston, Mass., and are building a two story house which will not be ready for occupancy until about the middle of October. The garage is already completed and they have stored their household goods in it.

WEST FRANKFORT.

Several of the farmers have not finished haying.

Mrs. Fred Moore, who has been quite sick, is slowly improving.

Mrs. Edgar Thayer is recovering from her recent illness and is able to be out.

Miss Freda Knowlton, who has employment in Islesboro, has been at home the past week.

The schools began Sept. 13th. Lewie Kingsbury transports the pupils to the Lane school.

Mrs. Ellen Black and daughter Christie of Dorchester, Mass., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thayer, returned home by boat Sept. 11th.

The out-of-town alarm at 11:30 a. m., Sept. 10th was for a fire in East Belfast, Edward W. Davis, who lives on Swan Lake avenue, was burning underbrush and the fire got beyond his control and spread to land owned by Capt. Ralph W. Patterson which had been cut over last year. The firemen responded with their usual promptness and by the use of hand chemicals stopped the fire before it reached the standing growth, so that there was little damage. "All out" sounded at 12:05.

The High school opened Monday with 132 pupils enrolled and 45 in the entering class. The grade and rural schools will begin next Monday, September 20th. Grades 5 and 6 of the South school will convene in the downstairs rooms of the High school building, Grade 4 in what was formerly the Boot and Shoe Workers' Club rooms in Hayford block and 1, 2 and 3 will be taught at the homes of the teachers until the Peirce school building is ready for use.

STEAMER NOTES. Frederick A. Jones, general manager of the Eastern Division of the Eastern Steamship Corporation, has also been appointed general manager of the Western Division, and now has jurisdiction over all the lines operated by the company. J. E. Owsley, who was general manager of the Western Division, has resigned. The steamers of the Eastern Steamship Corporation on the Bangor line are now making six trips a week, leaving here on week days only, but a boat arrives from Boston Sunday morning.

"Tinkers" have been plentiful in the harbor of late, but will not bite the hook. The explanation given is that the refuse from the canning factory keeps them surfeited with feed and the bait does not tempt them. Large quantities of very small tinkers have been taken in the wells and Monday "Sandy" Clark sold a barrel of these little fish on a Main street corner, three dozen for a quarter.

He went to Unity with a lot and after supplying the village was to offer them to people going home from the fair. It is said that many have been canned at the sardine factory.

AT THE WOMAN'S CLUB. Mrs. Wm. B. Swan entertained Mrs. C. S. Bickford, Mrs. Ellen J. Keller of White Plains, N. Y., Miss Maude Gammons, Telford Durham, Roger A. and Robert E. Lutz of Newton, Mass., Sept. 8th. Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gurney, A. P. Shepherd, Mrs. S. N. Simmons of Appleton, Mrs. G. H. Brier, Winter Hill, Mass., Mrs. F. C. Gay and Miss Marie A. Gay of Brooklyn, N. Y., registered Sept. 9th. Mrs. L. N. Gilkey and Mrs. L. M. Kimball of Islesboro, Mrs. F. L. White of Morrill, Mrs. J. W. Vaughan of Citypoint, Mrs. Henry Jones of Camden, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Plummer, Mrs. Palmer Cobb and Miss Grace Louise Cobb of Philadelphia, Dr. and Mrs. James D. Clement of Orono registered Sept. 10th.

A COLT-CASE. Donald Patten of Lincolnville was before Judge Maurice W. Lord of the Municipal court Sept. 10th on complaint of Mrs. Emily E. Patterson of Belfast for malicious mischief in the injury of her colt by breaking and use. Mrs. Patterson had been pasturing two colts in Patten's pasture and learning that he was using them she took them home and entered the suit. It was alleged that the colt showed where the harness and saddle had been used on him and that his feet were sore. The defence was that Mr. Patten had been given permission to break the colt and use him for rides. Ralph I. Morse appeared for the plaintiff and H. C. Buzzell for the defendant. Judge Lord found probable cause and the defendant was fined $5 and costs and 10 days in the county jail. The jail sentence was suspended and he appealed to the September term of the Supreme Judicial Court under $200 bonds, with Harry W. Chapman and Frank N. Patten sureties.

FIELD DAY AND CLAMBAKE. Saturday, Sept. 18th, it is proposed to have a field day and clambake at Crow Cove, Islesboro, under the auspices of the Leonard & Barrows A.A., for all employees of the factory and their families, and no better place could be chosen for such an outing. A very short walk from the head of Crow Cove takes one across the island to Bounteous Cove, which opens upon the eastern bay with its many islands, and the surrounding and outlook from the western shore are also attractive. The Belfast Band will be guests of the association and furnish music, and there will be a ball game, potato and sack races, tug-of-war and a general good time. The affair is given to celebrate the closing of the first season of the association and already over 300 have expressed their desire to attend. The association is the first of the sort ever organized among the employees of the factory and its foremen have taken an active part in its welfare, especially H. A. Peters and B. L. Tuttle, who have worked untiringly for its success. A ball team was maintained during the past season, and a most successful Labor Day celebration was given under the auspices of the association, which plans to eclipse this record in 1916.

We would be VERY pleased to give a FREE demonstration at our store or in your own home if you prefer. Just telephone or write if interested. Prices from $30.00 to $250.00 in stock.

Yours truly,
CARLE & JONES, Belfast, Me.

An informal reception will be given at the Baptist church next Tuesday evening from 8 to 10 o'clock to Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Sturtevant. All members of the church and congregation are cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Sherman, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Hall and little daughter are spending the week at Northport, occupying one of the Mrs. Frank O. Smith cottages on the South Shore.

Mrs. B. B. Greenlaw entertained last Thursday and Friday at the camp at Temple Heights owned by her son, William Greenlaw, Mrs. C. S. Webb, Mrs. William K. Keene and Mrs. Effie Harrison.

Miss Leota A. Patterson, who graduated from the Commercial department of the Belfast High school last June, has a position in The City National Bank and will enter upon her duties next Monday.

Governor Curtis has made the following among other nominations: Justice of the Peace, George A. Palmer of Monroe; agent for the prevention of cruelty to animals, J. A. Patterson of Belfast for Waldo county.

The County Commissioners were in session Tuesday. Among the matters before them was a road in Freedom and the Belfast-Northport bridge at Little River. County Attorney W. A. Cowan was called in consultation.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chipman have sold their residence on Bradbury street and with their aunt, Mrs. E. M. Flanders, will leave Sept. 25th for Poland Springs, where they will make their home and where Mr. Chipman has employment.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Alfred Johnson the children at the Girls' Home were given a sail on the bay in the yacht Whistler yesterday afternoon, and to most of them it was a new and interesting experience and was much enjoyed.

John A. Fogg is making a specialty of dahlias in his garden on High street and has some beautiful varieties in the window of his market. One, a deep garnet, with quilled petals is from a bulb presented Mr. Fogg by Mrs. W. H. F. Well of Islesboro.

THE WALDO COUNTY HOSPITAL. William Smith of Waldo and Calvin Hall of Monroe, both medical patients, are convalescing. Clifford Hillier, injured in the recent automobile accident on Searport avenue, returned Wednesday morning to his home in Orono. He suffered only from the nervous shock. Mrs. H. M. Fernald of Pittsfield, a surgical patient, will return home to-day, Thursday.

THE WAYSIDE. Among the out-of-town guests registering the past week were the following: Bernard L. Stetson, Hanover, Mass., Mrs. David L. Mitchell, Bangor, Miss Blake, Lillian Blake and Mary Perkins, Castine, Mrs. Florence Curtis and Miss Gertrude Grinnell, Camden, Dorothy Kendall and H. W. Hall, Newton Center, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. and Miss Prudence Robinson, Bangor, Miss Louise M. Hill, Bath, Mrs. J. B. Gould, Brookline, Mass., Mrs. E. B. Symonds, Salem, Mass., Miss Ethel King, Boston, Mrs. Emma Clement and Miss Eliza Hall, Montville, Mrs. E. N. Hall, Thorndike, Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Spangler, Miss Gertrude Hill, Plaisted and Ralph Whittier, Bangor, Mrs. Emily J. Hooper, Methuen, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Reuel Robinson, Mrs. Georgia H. Hobbs and Mrs. Laura B. Reed, Camden. Mrs. Carrie C. Pendleton entertained Mrs. James P. Tallaferr, Mrs. Annie W. Hinchman and Mrs. Mary C. Fessenden at auction and lunch Tuesday afternoon.

THE "COOTS" TAKE TO THE WATER AGAIN. The Coot Club, like the sealion from which it derives its name, naturally takes to the water, but for two seasons their annual cruise was made by automobile. This year they accepted an invitation from Mr. Alfred Johnson and left last Saturday afternoon in the auxiliary schooner yacht Whistler for a trip down the Reach to Brooklin, a favorite resort of the "Coots," and where they are always heartily welcomed. Advance notice had been given for their coming and preparations were made for their Saturday night dance, which is always largely attended and much enjoyed by the residents as well as by the Coots. Sunday morning they started for home and had a delightful sail up the Reach, called in at Castine, and let go the anchor above the steamboat wharf about 5 p. m. The Coots are loud in their praise of the Whistler, a 22-ton craft designed both for comfort and safety and fully meeting both requirements. She has a light rig, with no bowsprit, good freeboard, and with her gasoline engine makes about eight miles an hour.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT BURNHAM. There was a collision at Burnham Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 8th, between an automobile and a train at a railroad crossing in which one of the party in the auto, Rev. A. G. Davis, aged 65, was fatally injured. The other members of the party, consisting of Mrs. Davis, T. H. Scribner, the driver and owner of the car, and his son, E. A. Scribner, all of North Waterboro, were badly shaken up and bruised, but are recovering. The cars were being shunted into position for the night and were moving only at a speed of about five miles an hour, and the auto at ten to fifteen miles an hour. Had either been going at greater speed the accident would have been much more serious. The approach to the crossing is rather blind and before the occupants of the automobile were aware of the presence of a train they had been hit and the machine tipped over on its side. Mr. Davis in some way was thrown under the car and sustained serious injuries, the others escaping with bruises and a shaking up. Mr. Davis was taken to the hotel in Burnham and received the attention of physicians. On examination it was found that he had received a severe scalp wound that required several stitches, one leg was badly scalded and he had suffered a concussion of the brain. He had a heart trouble, had been in failing health for some time, and died Friday.

Charles A. Harmon and Fred Rackliff, recently of the Thompson Mfg. Co. of this city, have engaged in the manufacture of clothing in Portland under the firm name of the Fidelity Clothing Company, starting with 20 machines.

A report in a daily paper of the sinking of the steamer J. T. Morse in Stonington harbor said: "Automobiles conveyed many of the passengers to Bar Harbor, and from there they went to their various destinations." They must have been automobiles.

The Society of Equal Rights will hold a baked bean supper and entertainment in Peavey's hall, Citypoint, Saturday evening, Sept. 25th. There will be a guessing contest and a social time will be enjoyed after the entertainment. The public is cordially invited.

At the last meeting of the Belfast City Government the matter of allowing the Belfast Base Ball association to lay out a regulation ball diamond on the McLellan property, owned by the city, was informally discussed. It was decided that the property is too near the Waldo County hospital for such a purpose, and that it would be disturbing to the patients. No formal action was taken.

At the meeting Sept. 9th the directors of the Home for Aged Women extended a vote of thanks to all who contributed to the success of the lawn party, the net proceeds of which were $175.86. Mrs. Helen A. Taylor and Miss Nellie P. Colley were admitted as life inmates. Mayor Charles R. Combs was made a committee to select the colors and attend to the painting of the buildings, which was made possible by the gift of $100 from the Kings Daughters.

FRANKLIN STREET IMPROVEMENT. A notable improvement in the city streets is that on the section of Franklin street between post office square and Court street. Ten or more years ago there was no better piece of street in the city. It was well drained, properly rounded and entirely free from loose stones. Then one spring the road machine, a comparatively new thing here, was run over it when the ground was soft. It did not go into the ditch, but made another ditch and its wheels left deep ruts. There was a heavy rain soon after and five distinct streams of water were running down the street. The work of disintegration has been going on ever since, and except for work done by the abutments in clearing the gutters, etc., practically nothing has been done to remedy this condition, and the heavy rains this season took away what was left of the surface covering down to bed rock. After a cartload or two of loose stones had been hauled off the gutters were cleaned out and the earth and sods used to build up the road. Then a coating of coarse gravel was applied and that was given a coating of sand, and when that works in there promises to be not only a more sightly street but one easier to travel over.

WALDO COUNTY TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION. The three days' session of the Waldo County Teachers' Association closed at noon Friday. The sessions on that day began at 9 a. m. and closed at 12:20 p. m., with hour periods for each topic instead of one-half hour as on the two days previous. This was done that the teachers living out-of-town might leave for home by the afternoon train or boats. The sessions were unusually well attended by the city and county teachers, who formed classes for practical teaching by the three State Institute instructors, Misses Helen M. King of Portland and Florence M. Hale of the State Normal school at Presque Isle and Mr. N. L. Mower of Auburn. The evening sessions Wednesday and Thursday were more of a social nature and very enjoyable. Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge S. Pitcher, Belfast's music teachers, were present and presented several historic musical selections on the High school Victrola. Miss King of the Nathan Clifford school, Portland, a successful teacher, took arithmetic as her specialty, illustrating her ideas and manner of teaching by blackboard drills. She had the happy faculty of drawing questions from her listeners, making her instruction of more practical value. Her Thursday afternoon talk on common and decimal fractions was of much merit. Miss Hale, a rapid and entertaining speaker and a born teacher, well trained, spoke on the "Beginning of the Rural School," "The Use of the Mother Tongue," "Some Practical Aids to Success and the Ministry of Humor." Her talks were very practical and in many instances her criticisms of the rural school teacher were very severe. She forcibly illustrated the necessity for the teacher to remain in the school room during the noon hour if the pupils are obliged to bring lunches. Mr. Mower spoke exclusively on "Elementary School Music." His thorough knowledge of the best and latest methods of this comparatively new branch of teaching made his address of practical value to the teachers, all of whom are obliged to conduct classes, even if the school in which they teach has a special teacher. The after questions and discussions added to the real value of the instruction.

Fraud Paint. The worst mistake one is likely to make in painting is wrong paint; it is easy to make. We all say "Ours is the best," and there are 1000 of us. One is best; but a dozen are so near on a level that no one knows, for sure, that his is the one.

The worst paints are worst liars; they know what they are, put-on a bold face, and brazen it out.

Their one true argument is low price; but low price paint is always, must be, a fraud; it is made to cheat cheatable people.

DEVORE.

THE 31st MAINE REUNION.

The 31st Maine Regimental association met in annual reunion in Bangor at G. A. R. hall Wednesday forenoon, Sept. 8th, when reports for the year were read, officers elected and other business transacted. The past year has been a noteworthy one in the history of the association, in that only one death among the veterans has been reported, that of James O. Tobey of Machiasport. This is the smallest for many years and shows that the G. A. R. men of this regiment are healthy and long lived. R. S. Osgood of Bluehill was elected president of the association, and O. E. Bartlett was chosen first vice president; Capt. Columbus J. Noble, second vice president; O. R. Leavitt, third vice president; J. F. Beath, chaplain, and F. S. Perkins of Castine, secretary. A splendid dinner was served to about 40 of the veterans and wives and friends by the ladies of the G. A. R. at noon. The spread was most appetizing and delicious and was thoroughly appreciated by all present. Among those present besides the officers were S. Dean Benson of Bangor; A. G. Rollins, S. T. Stone, Mrs. Joseph Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. R. Osgood, Capt. Horace Whitmore, Hampden; Mrs. W. Grindle, Bangor; H. P. Miles, W. S. Moody and J. McGray.

Comrade S. F. Perkins of Castine made the following report:

"Sisters and comrades: we are permitted through Divine Providence to meet again at our annual reunion which always means so much to us, and as the years go by and we meet here from one reunion to another we are filled with sadness because we miss some comrades who have gone to assemble with the many thousands of our Grand Army on the other side of the great white silence toward which we are marching with a quick step which seems to grow faster as we feel the weight of years upon us, which also reminds us that it will soon be our turn to fold our tent and answer our name to the last roll call and go to our reward with the feeling that we have tried to do our duty as soldiers and citizens. With our Saviour we have the pleasure and joy of meeting our sisters and comrades who have been here in this beautiful City of Bangor through which many of us passed when we were on our way to join our regiment at Augusta. This room which our comrades have so kindly given us the use of is fast becoming home to us, as we meet here from year to year. How often we shall look back to the pleasant times we have spent here in each other's company, talking of the past and looking forward to the time when we again welcome those who are spared another year. For we must not let our hearts grow old if our strength does grow weaker. As the years come and go we will keep that love and kindness for our comrades which is a duty we owe to the other. For in no organization is the same feeling that soldiers have, which have been strengthened by hardship in those dark hours of war and which clouded our fair land in the days of '61 and '65. We may know that the memory of those days and the part each of you performed in that great struggle will be remembered by our beloved country for years after the last comrade of that war has passed away and we all are thankful that it is our privilege to wear that little button with honor to ourselves and the Grand Army of the Republic. And another great pleasure we enjoy is meeting these sisters who always do so much to entertain the comrades, who gather here each year and feel such an interest in the welfare of the Grand Army and always willing to do so much to make our reunion a success, and we wish to thank them for the many little things they do to make our meetings interesting to us and our stay pleasant while here—and comrades, let us keep strong the chain that unites one to the other and as we part to mingle in our several pursuits may we carry with us the memory of this reunion as being the best we have ever attended."

The 31st Maine was organized in Augusta in March and April, 1864. Leaving the State on April 18th, it proceeded to Alexandria, Va., where it was assigned to the Second Brigade, Second Division and Ninth Corps. In less than a month after leaving home the regiment went into action at the Wilderness and on May 12th was hotly engaged at Spotsylvania, where it lost 11 killed, 94 wounded and missing. In the fight at Bethesda church, June 3rd, it lost 15 killed and 39 wounded, and behaved with such gallantry that Gen. Griffin complimented it in orders.

Under command of Col. White, the regiment rendered efficient service in the assault on Petersburg, June 17th, and at the Mine explosion it was among the first to enter the enemy's works. Its losses at the Mine were 9 killed, 26 wounded and 51 captured or missing. In October there were only about 60 men on duty, but new companies were added. In less than one year's time the Thirty-First lost 674 men killed or wounded in action, three-fourths of this loss occurring in May, June and July, 1864.

FUNNY THINGS AT FRISCO.

Among the amusements at the San Francisco Exposition are:

1. A model of Panama Canal on which a visitor may ride 1,440 feet and experience every motion made in a trip through the real canal.
2. The Bowls of Joy are two big bowls into the bottom of the first of which the visitor is shot on a swift car, sent whirling around on a spiral until he reaches the top, pushed into the air, and spun around again until he reaches the bottom, and is then shot out onto a platform feeling very dizzy.
3. The Submarine, which represents a real submarine. The visitor goes in, a gong rings and the submarine begins to submerge. It cruises about under water for a quarter of an hour, giving a view of marine life. There are sunken vessels, treasure chests, and the famous Davy Jones Locker.
4. Caves of the Winds, which is a well known Coney Island fake.
5. Valley of the Mists, a scene of dense fog.
6. Neptune's Abode, another grottoed retreat under the sea.
7. Jonah, played by the visitor who enters the mouth of a whale and beholds great wonders.
8. The Aeroplane, which takes a visitor up 265 feet, turns around to give him a view of the whole Exposition ground, and returns him to earth.

Besides these there are innumerable other freak attractions on the Zone, such as Topsy Turvy Village, Flea Circus, Midget Theatre, '49 Camp, and Mexican and Hawaiian villages, which are of sufficient varied interest to take up the visitor's attention, no matter how long he may stay.

COUGHS THAT ARE STOPPED!

Careful people see that they are stopped. Dr. King's New Discovery is a remedy of tried merit. It has held its own on the market for 46 years. Youth and old alike testify to its soothing and healing qualities. Pneumonia and lung troubles are often caused by delay of treatment. Dr. King's New Discovery stops those hacking coughs and relieves a gripe tendency. Money back if it fails. 50c and $1.00.

NEGROES SAY SHE PLOTTED MURDER.

The case of Mrs. C. Franklin Mohr, the wealthy Providence (R. I.) woman, will be heard first when the grand jury meets Sept. 20. Three negroes, held for the shooting of her husband, are said to have confessed that she plotted his death.

Political Points.

The net balance in the general fund of the U. S. Treasury at the close of business August 23d was $55,760,889, as compared with a balance of $126,663,944 on the same date two years ago under Republican laws. The administration spent $27,382,411 more than it collected during the first 54 days of the present fiscal year.

Wholesale prices of 25 leading articles of food for the second week in August were higher than for the corresponding week in 1913. This is shown by the N. Y. Times Analyst, which gives the index number as 145.17 for 1915, as compared with 139 for 1913.

The average duty collected on imports under the Democratic tariff law is equivalent to an ad valorem duty of 13 per cent. That is, on every dollar of imports, the government gets 13 cents. Under the Republican tariff law which the Democrats repealed, the government collected 20 cents for every dollar's worth of goods imported. The theory of the Democrats was that the lower duty would bring in more goods and make up most of the difference. They ignored the fact that every dollar spent for foreign goods means one dollar less spent for the product of American labor. They also ignored the fact that every dollar spent for labor is spent by its recipient, until, in the course of a year, it has passed through 12 different hands and given employment to 12 different men. Therefore, for every dollar's worth of foreign made goods brought in under the Democratic tariff law, there was taken from American labor not merely one dollar of wages but twelve dollars. These facts explain, in a nutshell, why millions of men were jobless as soon as the Democratic tariff law was enacted and why they have continued jobless except to the extent that the war in Europe has shut off importations and given employment to men engaged in producing or manufacturing foodstuffs, munitions or equipment for the nations of Europe.

Stealing Republican thunder has become so common a practice among Democrats that their consciences have become calloused. They fought the postal savings bank law, but now laud the results it has accomplished and seek credit for its success. They opposed a policy of preparedness and now that their folly has been proven, would be known as its chief sponsors. They condemned "dollar diplomacy" when a Republican administration was trying to build up our foreign commerce, but now they are bending every energy in the same direction. Pretty soon we shall see them advocating a protective tariff, in spite of their many years of denunciation of the Republican "Made-in-America" policy. They are slowly but surely learning wise principles of government.

Chairman Walsh, the Industrial Commission class-agitator, finds no thrill in the hunt for senatorial honors in Missouri, and report has it that he is out after bigger game—nothing less than the Presidency. A boom for Walsh has already been started among some of the labor unions of the country, and he has addressed many of them lately. Meanwhile the White House policy will be one of "Walshful waiting."

According to the Construction News, building construction in the United States for July showed a decrease of 13 per cent in comparison with the corresponding month a year ago. Practically all the large cities showed material decreases, Brooklyn alone showing an increase of 11 per cent. New York fell off 10 per cent and Chicago 29 per cent.

While the people of this country want a tariff commission, they also want the law for its establishment very carefully drawn. They recognize that at present practically all the interstate business of the country is under the espionage of 21 men, the aggregate number of the Interstate and Trade Commissions and the Federal Reserve Board, thus placing in the hands of 11 men, a majority, the power to determine questions of vital importance to the welfare of the whole nation. This is too centralized Government and must ultimately result in destruction of popular and representative Government.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA FAVORABLE CROP REPORTS.

Record Crops of Wheat, Corn and Oats. September Forecast for Potatoes 14,000,000 Bushels below 1912 Record Crop.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. Bumper crops this year, with a half dozen new production records, now seems assured. Basing predictions on a canvass made on Sept. 1, by its thousands of agents throughout the United States, the Department of Agriculture today issued forecasts showing the prospects of virtually all the principal farm crops, except potatoes and rice, improved during August.

The wheat crop is placed at 981,000,000 bushels, 90,000,000 more than last year's record crop. Wet weather has damaged winter wheat and delayed threshing. Additional inquiries by crop reporters this month, however, resulted in the crop reporting board making no change in its August prediction of 659,000,000 bushels of winter wheat. Conditions for the spring wheat crop have been ideal lately. As a result of the favorable conditions the spring wheat production forecast was increased 15,000,000 bushels, to a total of 322,000,000 bushels. When the final canvass is made the entire wheat production probably will reach one billion bushels.

Corn production prospects increased 67,000,000 during August, the forecast now being 2,955,000,000 bushels. Although the forecast for the year crop is more than 110,000,000 bushels short of the record crop of 1912.

Oats may reach a record, the September forecast being 1,408,000,000 bushels, which is 267,000,000 more than was harvested last year, but ten million bushels below the record of 1912.

The condition of white potatoes took a decided drop during August, resulting in a decrease of 25,000,000 bushels in the estimates of production. The September forecast is 406,000,000 bushels, 14,000,000 below the 1912 record crop.

Irrotations point to a record crop of rye, barley, sweet potatoes, tobacco, rice and hay. The apple and peach crops also are far above the average in production.

WEDDING BELLS.

PERRY-PROCTOR. A very pretty wedding occurred at the home of L. W. Clark in Burnham Saturday, Sept. 4th, at 8 p. m., when Mr. Olie Perry of Burnham and Miss Blanche Proctor of Clinton were united in marriage by L. W. Clark, Esq., who used the single ring ceremony. The marriage was solemnized in the presence of intimate friends, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Carter of Bangor and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Clark of Detroit being among the number.

BURLEIGH HUNTINGTON. Miss Helen Babbitt Huntington, daughter of Mrs. Harriet W. Huntington of Monticler Vt., and John H. Burleigh of Burlington, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Burleigh of South Berwick, Me., were married Wednesday evening, Sept. 8th at the Church of the Messiah by Rev. Lewis Carson, Ph.D. Joseph T. Smith was best man and Mrs. E. P. Jewett Burgess, a cousin of the bride, matron of honor. The bride wore white flax lace and satin, with veil of white tulle. The ushers were E. Stanley Jayne, E. P. J. Burgess of New York, Eugene W. Magnus of Waterbury and Edward S. French of Rochester.

EATON-NASON. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Nason in Pittsfield was the scene of a pretty home wedding Wednesday noon, Sept. 8th, when their oldest daughter, Miss Joyce Nason, was united in marriage to Richard Eaton of Exeter. Rev. A. E. Wright, pastor of the Universalist church, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate members of the two families. Both are well known young people of the town. Mr. Eaton was graduated at M. C. I., class of '15. They left Wednesday afternoon on a wedding trip to Providence, R. I., after which they will return to Exeter, where they will reside, having the best wishes of a host of friends.

QUARMBY-BATES. Miss Jeannette Mae Bates of Fairfield became the bride of George Henry Quarmby of Saugus, Mass., at high noon Wednesday, Sept. 8th, the wedding taking place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Harriet Bates of 11 Western avenue. Rev. Ernest M. Holman, pastor of the Baptist church, performed the highly impressive double ring ceremony, which was witnessed by a small party, including the relatives of the contracting parties and a few invited friends. The bride was unattended, and the marriage was held in the front parlors of the home, which were specially arranged for the occasion. Garbed in a travelling suit and wearing a large black hat, the bride looked very sweet. Her suit of fine karbadine was made Russian style, with black fur trimmings. Following the wedding an informal reception took place, and the newly wedded pair left on the afternoon train for their future home at Saugus, Mass. There will be no wedding trip, as they went directly to their new home, which was completely furnished and awaiting them.

GROVES-NASH. Clyde Groves and Miss Helen Nash of Camden were united in marriage Sept. 3d at the home of W. R. Walters in North Wadsworth. Rev. Wesley A. Wiggins of Cambridge, Mass., performing the ceremony. Henry Hall acted as best man and Miss Winnifred Nash, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. The bride wore white crepe de chene with trimmings of shadow lace. The marriage was a complete surprise to even their most intimate friends, many not knowing of the happy event until the announcement cards were received. The bride is bookkeeper at the Camden National Bank and the groom is a civil engineer for the Pennsylvania Railroad at Pittsburgh, Pa. Both bride and groom are among the most popular young people in Camden and they were the recipients of many pretty and costly gifts. Mrs. Groves is genial and loved by all who know her. Her excellent character and sunny disposition have made many friends for her. The groom is a young man of sterling habits and with prospects of a bright future. Both were graduates of the Camden High school, and Mr. Groves of the U. of M. The courtship of the young couple began in their school days. That the coming years may bring happiness and prosperity is the wish of all. The newly wedded couple will reside in Camden for the present.

It is reported that J. C. Rodgers, owner of the Settlement quarry at Stonington is about to be awarded a contract for supplying the granite for the courthouse at Pittsburg, Pa., a large building of 14 stories, to be built entirely of granite and which will give steady employment for 100 or more granite cutters for two years.

The Monroe Fair.

Good Weather, Good Trade, Good Attendance.

The Monroe fair opened auspiciously Tuesday morning, Sept. 7th, with a very good attendance, perhaps better than that of 1914. The weather was ideal. There were about 200 plates in the fruit department, with the quality ahead of last year's exhibit. The vegetable exhibit was good and the flowers unusually beautiful, with many exhibitors. The fancy department was well up to it not ahead of the displays of former years. There were about two hundred head in the stock department. The chief attraction Tuesday forenoon was a ball game between Swanville and Jackson, which resulted in a victory of 11 to 7, in favor of Jackson. Stevenson of Belfast and F. Knowlton of Monroe.

The rest room was in charge of Mrs. Julia White of Winterport, assisted by Grace Ritchie and Mrs. Woodman of Monroe. Tea and coffee were served. This room has been improved by the addition of new windows on the front and offered a fine place for rest for those who wished to take advantage of it.

The gentlemen's driving class was won for speed, and in disposition. On Wednesday, the second day of the fair, there were 3,000 people on the grounds and the attendance steadily increasing. Twenty-four babies were entered for the baby show, which was held in the W. C. T. U. room at 11 o'clock. The judges were Mrs. Ellis Kilham of Prospect, Mrs. George Pratt of Troy and A. L. Bissell of Winterport.

The prizes were awarded as follows: Prettiest baby, Albert Lewis White, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. White of Winterport, silver mug; largest boy, Lindwood Phair Elwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Elwell of Monroe, silver mug; best breast-fed baby, Maud Faustina Gould, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Gould of Dixmont, a silver loving cup, presented by the Imperial Canning Company; the heaviest girl, Madeline Laura Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lowe of Frankfort, a gold chain; prettiest girl, Hazel Fern Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jenkins of Brooks, loving cup presented by Dr. T. A. Auburn.

The youngest boy, Austin Cook Nealley, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Nealley, a silver spoon. The ball game between Jackson and Troy, resulted in a victory for Troy of 10 to 5. Sidney Webber was umpire for Jackson.

The races were interesting, the 2:20 class going five hard-driven heats. The summary:

The peg race was quite amusing and exciting and was won by Fred Gray, George Ryder second and Rex Ryder third.

The fair closed Thursday with a good attendance for a wind-up day. The fair as a whole was a very satisfactory success, the attendance larger than last year with good weather and no accidents. The baseball game resulted in a Jackson 34, Swanville 15. The opposing batteries were Arvey and Tarbell; Clements, Goodrich and Walker, Harriman. The races resulted as follows:
